

MEMBER OF THE YEAR

Presented by: LSCLS.

Purpose: To recognize an outstanding clinical laboratory scientist, who, in professional and personal life and as a member of LSCLS and ASCLS, has demonstrated dedication to the well-being of his fellow man: and who, by outstanding example, has inspired others.

Eligibility: The member of the year must:

1. Be actively involved in the profession of clinical laboratory science.
2. Be a current member of LSCLS and ASCLS.
3. Have been a member of LSCLS and ASCLS for five (5) years prior to nomination.

Judges: Three members of the Awards Committee.
Immediate Past-President of LSCLS.
Previous year's winner of the award.

Judging will be based on:

1. Activities in local, state, and national societies, with more emphasis on state since this is state award.
2. Service in other professional organizations.
3. Community Service.
4. Any other significant contributions.

Award: A plaque and a revere bowl are presented to the winner each year.

Procedure: The nominator is to complete the nomination form and forward it to Emilea Haddox at haddox@ulm.edu by February 15th.

If this information is secured without the nominee being aware of it, the element of surprise at the awards ceremony is much more significant.
